Announcements.

For Sheriff.

The CURRENT is authorized to announce the name of M. C. Stewart for election as the office of sheriff subject to the decision of the democratic voters of Eddy county in the primaries.

I hereby announce my name for sheriff of Eddy county in the coming November election.

THOMAS A. GRAY.

Treasurer and Collector.

By request of many citizens and democratic voters of Eddy county, I have finally consented to allow my name to be used for the office of treasurer and collector of Eddy county, sufficient time will of the democrats in the future.

JOHN D. WALKER.

For President
WILLIAM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

Col. W. C. Griffin issued the first number of the Eddy County Live Stock Eagle last Saturday. The Eagle is quite popular already and will undoubtedly fill a long felt want—in the editor's pocket. The Eagle intends to represent the cattle interests of the county for its editor is an old cattle man.

An effort will be made during the coming campaign in Eddy county to widen the breach already existing among the local democracy and thereby give the office to republicans. Ah Democrats who are not in the party for revenue alone should see to it they are not suborned in the interest of the party of trusts, imperialism and boodle.

The CURRENT bases its faith on the election of Wm. J. Bryan, for the reason that it is improbable that the American people will cast their votes for a British sympathizer. This country had had two bloody wars with Great Britain and no true American can trust that government or any person who sympathizes with it, as does Wm. McKinley, the tool!

The CURRENT favors a four-section homestead law for actual settlers with a time limit for title to issue of ten years unless commuted in two years by paying $1.25 per acre. In connection with this law a new law giving every homesteader a right to lease sixteen sections while he resides on his homestead, should also prevail, but no lease should prevent another homesteader from taking up leased land at any time.

The Cuban situation shows more scandal being developed each day, more frauds than were ever known in the history of the United States, but wait until we hear from the Philippines on this subject. Wait until the thieves who have been looting the government treasury for the past two years, are shown up. No less personage than E. G. Shields at one time a defaulter for $25,000 in the Luis Cruses fund, of course, is now a "dead agent" in the Philippines. What E. G. Shields cannot steal must be tied pretty tight.

Mr. Thos. A. Gray who announces for sheriff at the fall election in this issue is one of our oldest and most respected residents, coming here fifteen years ago. He was engaged in business here when this town was a infant and was always well liked by everybody, never gloating in any way been concerned in disagreements of any kind. He belongs to no clique, never having joined any society or combination of any kind and is running on his own merits as a fair minded man whom all know to be fully competent for the office. It is a fact, that Mr. Gray is an exceptional man and if elected will do his duty fearlessly and according to his obligation as an officer of the law and without favor to friend or fear of foes.

The range fences to prevent cattle drifting in storms are being investigated fully by the government. The fences have been placed on the government land by parties owning cattle which feed on the government grass. If the grass was not consumed by the cattle it would undoubtedly be destroyed by animal prairie fires, thus it will be seen the cattle do not harm the land. In dry periods the cattle drift toward the river where they can get water and die by thousands along the banks of the river because the grass quickly disappears from the continual stamp of so many cattle when they drift to the river. It would seem that for the present and until a four section homestead law can be passed, along with a sixteen section lease law, only ob-

Washington Letter.

Washington, June 8, 1890.

The democrats could not make the republican majority in Congress remain in session and transact the business which they were elected to transact, but they could, and did, thoroughly expose the hypocrisy of the republican treatment of such important matters as the Nicaragua, Canal bill, the trust question and the reduction of war taxes before adjournment, and they did more. In the debate on the armor plate clause of the Naval appropriation bill, the democratic senators made their fight on the armor trust so hot that Senators Hanna and Elkins actually championed that trust on the floor of the senate, thus furnishing conclusive proof that the administration and the republicans in congress were favorable to trusts in general, and to that trust especially. Instead of openly voting to pay the armor trust the price it demands for armor plate, the republican majority "whipped the devil around the stump" by authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to purchase the armor that will be needed during the coming fiscal year, if he can do so at what he considers a reasonable price; otherwise to establish a government plant and break the grasping monopoly. If Boss Hanna had not been certain of that he would not have allowed the authority to be given him. Anyway it was cowardly for the majority in congress to shift the responsibility for favoring this trust from themselves to Secretary Long.

A light between the Coast Survey, a civil bureau, and the Hydrographic Bureau of the Navy Department, over an appropriation in the Naval budget lengthened the session one day. Senator Pettigrew stirred up the republicans by doing into political history. He charged on the authority of Mr. Cramp himself, that Mr. Cramp contributed $400,000 to the republican campaign fund of 1882, with the express understanding that he was to be repaid with profitable contracts to build to build ships. When Senator Carter, who was chairman of the Republican National Committee which handled the campaign funds of that year, denied that any such agreement had been made with Mr. Cramp—and you, not that Mr. Cramp had contributed the money Mr. Pettigrew stated that he had a conversation with Senator Carter, repeating to him what Mr. Cramp had said, and that Carter had replied laughingly, "I guess we did hit the old man pretty hard." Mr. Pettigrew also gave Boss Hanna a few swipes that even his thick hide could not help from hurting, reading extracts from the memorial presented to the Senate charging Hanna with having bribed his way into the Senate, dwelling with emphasis upon the charge that Representative Dick, now Secretary of the Republican National Committee, and Maj. Rathbone, recently suspended as director of posts in Cuba, were Hanna's agents in carrying out the bribery. Mr. Pettigrew added as his own comment: "We see now in what school this man Rathbone was educated." Mr. Hanna's reply consisted largely of calling Mr. Pettigrew a traitor to the republican party, which was not very convincing.

Representative Cummings, of N. Y., roused the democrats of the House to enthusiasm by reading a letter from Col. Bryan, denying that he had ever said that he favored an anti-trust constitutional amendment or believed one to be necessary, unless the supreme court should hold that congressional legislation against trusts was unconstitutional and adding that the republican party has shown in this Congress that it does not wish to destroy trusts, by supporting a proposition to give the National Banks control of the currency, and thus create a paper money trust.

The Senate by a vote of 43 to 21 carried out the republican programme of holding up the anti-trust bill passed by the House, by referring it to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The Senate by a vote of 33 to 31 rejected the nomination of ex-Congressman Bynum, of Ind., to be Gen. Appraiser at the port of New York, an important position, which the law says shall be filled by a democrat, and which was given to Mr. Bynum as a reward for work done for Mr. McKinley in '88. Mr. Bynum called himself a gold democrat, but the democratic senators contended that he was not a democrat and there were enough republicans who agreed with them to defeat the nomination.

Senator Pettigrew said of the two labor bills passed by the House recently, and the language is equally applicable to the bill ordered favorably reported by the house judiciary committee, limiting of the word "conspiracy" and the use of restraining orders and injunctions in labor troubles: "Were these bills passed by the other House with the intention that they should become laws? Oh, no, Mr. President, they passed the other house for the purpose of holding them over labor during the coming summer, with the promise that their political course and conduct shall affect the legislation on these subjects next winter."

The Senate committee on the Pacific Islands and Porto Rico, of which Senator Foraker is chairman, was provided with a free trip to Porto Rico, at public expense, by a resolution adopted by the Senate. The alleged purpose of the junket is to investigate existing conditions.

THE PARLOR SAOON.

J. W. CONWAY,
Proprietor.

LAWRENDRUCK, Anderson Co., Ky., 1891.
TO THE TRADE.
My brand was selected for use at U. S. Marine Hospital at Washington, D. C., after being analyzed by the eminent chemist, W. M. New, owner of the largest pharmaceutical firm in the country, and by Dr. J. C. Jackson, of Baltimore and Pennsylvania. It should be borne in mind that in this department of the ever-select service the samples appear in plain bottles, without marks of any kind, and the selection of the sample whisky two years ago, "Ballard's," on its merits, overruled a large number of the best brands of whisky in the country. The water used for the manufacture of this whisky is from the noted Bullitt spring in Anderson county, Ky., which stands at a temperature of 56 degrees the year round, with a supply inexhaustible. This water is at all times clear. I will further state that I have never had a single barrel returned.
